

OJKUMENA

Regional researches

The journal is a quarterly publication (print ISSN: 1998-6785). The articles published in the journal are indexed by the Russian Science Citation Index. All papers submitted for publication are anonymously reviewed. The editors reserve the right to dismiss a paper if it does not meet the journal's requirements. There are no fees and charges for publication.

The editors encourage scholars from Russia and other countries to submit their papers that fall within the scope of the journal. Although the journal's articles are normally published in Russian, the editors are willing to consider English-language papers for publication. If they are accepted, they will be published in Russian (their translation from English into Russian done by the editors).

The journal includes the following thematic sections:

- The theory and methodology of regional studies
- Focused analysis of regional structures and processes
- World system and inter-regional relations
- Interdisciplinary and systemic regional studies
- Historical sources and documents in regional studies
- Sociology of science and management of science in regional studies
- Empirical studies
- Analytical studies
- Applied researches
- Reports on conferences and workshops
- Book reviews
- Methodology of teaching in regional studies

Every issue of the journal has a main topic, or theme. Information about the themes for the future issues can be found on the official site of the journal: www.ojkum.ru e-mail: ojkum@rambler.ru
